Vice-president bats for quota for women in Parliament

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, November 11

VICE-PRESIDENT VENKAIAH Naidu pitched on Monday for political empowerment of women by providing adequate reservation for them in Parliament and state legislatures.

At the third convocation ceremony of Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), he expressed happiness over the fact that women constitute 51 per cent of the students in the institute because of special admission policy for them, and for those hailing from distant places and belonging to marginalized sections.

"I would also like to stress on the need for political empowerment of women by providing adequate reservation for them in Parliament and state legislatures," Naidu said.

The vice-president said it is a matter of pride that JNU is synonymous with academic excellence despite being in news for "wrong reasons" at times.

Naidu asserted that the time has come for India to reemerge as a global hub of learning.

"For this to happen, our universities and institutions of higher learning have to reorient their methods of teaching and focus more sharply on research. In Indian civilization, emphasis was always on a holistic integrated vision of education. We must bring back this multi-disciplinary approach to learning," he added.

Urging the universities and institutions of higher learning to completely reorient their methods of teaching, Naidu wanted JNU and other universities in India to figure among the top-ranking global institutions.

Minister stuck for 6 hrs as JNU students protest against hike in hostel fee

SUKRITA BARUAH & ARANYA SHANKAR
New Delhi, November 11

MINISTER OF HUMAN resource development Ramesh Pokhriyal was trapped inside the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) campus for over six hours on Monday, after the main gate was blocked by JNU students protesting against a hike in hostel fee.

Pokhriyal had been invited as guest of honour to JNU's third convocation ceremony. Alleging that the vice-chancellor had refused to meet them, the students, led by the JNU Students' Union, raised the slogan: 'No convocation without affordable education.'

The main point of protest is the introduction of service charges — for maintenance, mess workers, cook and sanitation — which were so far not included in the hostel fee. Under the new hostel charges, students have to pay an approximate service charge of ₹1,700 per month. Rent for a single room has been increased from ₹20 per month to ₹600 per month, and for a double-sharing room from ₹10 per month to ₹300 per month. Students will also have to pay utility charges, which they did not have to so far.

During the course of the protest outside the venue, which began shortly before noon, police tried several means to move students away from the gate, including the use of a water cannon which was deployed around 1:30 pm.

As more than 400 students assembled at the West Gate of the university campus, closest to AICTE, in the morning, they found that the gate was barricaded. "There were five layers of barricades, so we re-routed and moved towards the main North gate. The barricading there was light — they had either just started putting them up or had kept it light to allow some movement. We broke through that and marched towards the venue," said Paro Tomar, a Master's student.

Vice-President Venkaiah Naidu was the chief guest of the event. However, he left the event, which began at 9:30 am, before students reached the venue. "The police team controlled the situation and the vice-president was safely guarded outside the campus at 11:40 am," said DCP Devender Arya.

In the afternoon, the four JNUSU office-bearers met with the HRD minister.

"Police themselves facilitated the meeting, saying that we would meet the vice-chancellor, but he was nowhere to be found. Instead, we met with the minister for around 15-20 minutes, most of which time we spent explaining the problems to him. We also submitted a memorandum. He said he will organise a meeting with the vice-chancellor, with us as a part of it, but gave us nothing in writing," claimed JNUSU vice-president Saket Moon.

The eleven point memorandum essentially demanded that the draft Inter-Hall Administration (IHA) manual be withdrawn and that a fresh IHA meeting, including various stakeholders of the university, be called.

"The (₹1,700) figure is approximate because we are being expected to pay the wages of sanitation workers, mess workers and cooks. The university will no longer be paying those wages, but expect us to do so. If their wages increase, our fee will also increase," claimed Moon.

The JNU registrar said the increase was necessary as JNU was paying ₹10 crore annually from UGC's general funds, and that the money could be rather used for upkeep of the hostel.

Dean of students Umesh Kadam had earlier told The Indian Express that the fee had not been increased in 19 years, and therefore needed revision.

In the last few years, however, there have been attempts by the administration to increase the hostel fee, which have been resisted by the student community.

As tuition fee, JNU students currently pay less than ₹300 per month — around ₹283 for MPhil/PHD students, the highest of the lot. MA and BA students pay around the same amount.

While there has been no increase in tuition fee for many years, the administration had increased the price of JNU application forms from ₹1,000 to ₹3,000 two years ago, but had to roll it back due to protests.

On Monday, the protest at the gate continued till late in the evening, with students demanding that vice-chancellor Jagadesh Kumar come to the gate for a dialogue with the students.

Even as the convocation ceremony ended at around 1:00 pm, the HRD minister, vice-chancellor, chancellor, other administrators, guests and recipients of degrees were unable to leave the campus. As an effort to disperse them from the site, one water cannon truck was deployed at 1:30 pm, but the students continued to remain at the site.

In the meantime, some of those who received their degrees began protesting inside the AICTE campus as well.

"These dignitaries holed themselves inside the campus guest house. Around 50 of us began protesting outside the guest house, demanding that they speak to the students at the gate. There is no point in conducting a convocation like this; how can they treat students like that?" said Mithilesh Kumari, who had received her PhD in Hindi.

As the stand-off continued, police and CRPF personnel pushed themselves between the protesters and the gate and began physically pushing the students away around 3:30. This tussle continued for around 45 minutes before the students were pushed away enough for four cars to leave the gate — carrying the HRD minister, vice-chancellor and chancellor.

The other guest gradually left the venue afterwards.
